Kodomo no Ie ENROLLMENT INFORMATION

Early childhood is an important stage in the complex process of human development. The experiences and environment children have during this stage will greatly influence their future development, attitude, and lifestyle as an adult.

Kodomo no Ie provides a nurturing and stimulating environment for young children through its daily activities. Children gain important social skills through interaction with their peers and teachers. Kodomo no Ie nurtures a sense of community and connectiveness through observation and play with small animals, insects, plants, and involvement in seasonal events rich in Japanese culture and tradition. The staff strongly believes these experiences will not only enrich your child's life with joy, but will continue to nourish his/her future experiences as an adult.

Early childhood is a crucial stage in developing language skills. Immersing children in a Japanese-speaking environment will not only enable the acquisition and retention of Japanese, but will broaden their experience and assist in their growth through the use of the language. The staff at Kodomo no Ie reinforce Japanese language and traditions, which provide children coming from or returning to Japan with important support in softening the cultural transitions.
